EMERGENCY RESPONSE • DOT • ENVIRONMENTAL • HEALTH & SAFETY

Open enrollment and on-site training courses

Effective training programs that positively impact job or plant performance, contribute to safe and healthy work practices and environments, and comply with regulatory requirements are an investment worth making. Zephyr can evaluate your training needs, develop customized training materials, and professionally instruct employees using proven training methods and techniques. We offer instructors with strong technical backgrounds and practical experience who are also dynamic, informative, and focused on the needs of our students.

The Zephyr HazMat Academy was established to provide training with technically accurate content, high quality professional course materials, and excellent instruction and delivery. During the past 16 years, the Zephyr HazMat Academy has provided emergency response, Department of Transportation (DOT), environmental, and health & safety training to over 14,000 students. Our clients include Fortune 500 companies, small businesses, federal government agencies, municipalities, hospitals, universities, and public emergency response personnel.

Our approach to training is that excellent instruction must be balanced with interactive exercises and hands-on experiences for the students. During a HazMat Academy course, students can expect up-to-date course materials and informative presentations.

We offer both open enrollment and custom, on-site training courses to clients around the world. Visit our HazMat Academy website at www.hazmatacademy.com for courses, schedules and related links.
